Professional Alliances are the Backbone of the Business World.

Everyone knows that they need these types of relationships, but most people are unsure how to develop them. Who is a good candidate? What do you say? How will it work? What's going to happen? There are so many questions, that most people never progress beyond the "wishing"!

Have you ever been invited to lunch by someone who said they wanted to get to know more about your business, but all you got was a sales pitch?...and no "relationship"? Perhaps you have struggled with the dialogue on how to get started without trying to come across as just wanting "referrals". Are you thinking "I'm not sure I have anything to offer them"? That thought alone prevents many business people from engaging others!

The Link System® is a four step curriculum that teaches how to pre-qualify and leverage a new contact into a lucrative business alliance. We call those relationships “Links”. A well-cultivated Link can open doors to prospects and opportunities far beyond that of a single client. From picking the event, qualifying the Link Prospect, to structuring the Link Relationship, The Link System® walks the student through the relationship-building process from start to finish in a sequence tailored to your company.

The Link System® been taught in Merrill Lynch offices nationwide.
